Scouter, the man who is still at liberty, has the reputation of being a very quiet and inoffensive man, He is married to a sister of MacDonald for some time employed on the survey party of A. H. Wheeler, but Mr. Wheeler has nothing but encomiums to bestow on him.

MacDonald, who with Howard Muler, was Souten's partner in the Atlantic stable, is also said to have been a well conducted man. MacDonald is said to be one of the best riders in the country, having been a member of Houlon's Wild West show.

Boer Tactics.

A war correspondent describes in he following fashion one of the guises dopted by the Boers, the incident described being a cagagement at Holand's Farm which ended in the capure of the Fourteenth Mounted In-wagons, and, with ashen faces, held their hands above their heads, and cried; "Spare us! We are antry first ed" The Start was left to those who followed, or at least to such as were anable to gallop their horses further. The 2nd Mounted Infantry and the astute the high greets' occupied a ridge to the south and turned back the fugitive flying in that direction.

Such a hurt has not been seen for many a day during the war. A blown Boer threw himself upon the fanthaving failed to grab bagged for life, and, of course, was made prisoner. Blanket Charter.

An Ottawa despatch of Tuesday says;
A fair sample of a blanket charter application is the one outlined in a petition presented to the Commons yesterday. The franchise sought is for a railway starting at the mouth of French river, running northwest of Lake Burnor via Lake Wahnapitae and Manitou Eay to Lake Winnipeg, then on west to Prince Albert and Edmonton; from Edmonton southerly through the Yellowhead Pass and Kamleops district to New Westminster and Vancouver; with a branch from Edmonton west through the Rockies to Fort er branch lines in several directions in British Columbia and in Ontario to Port Arthur and Fort William.

The signatures to the petition for a bill of incorporation are those of Thos. W. Paterson, of Vancouver; Thomas H. Johnson, of Winnipeg, John Millen, of Duluth; Marshail B. Lloyd, of Mineapolis, and Ebenezer F. B. Johnstone, of Toronto.

Some Facts

IN RELATION TO STEEL USED IN MANUFACTURING

ROCK ISLAND PLOWS.

Soft Center Steel as used in the manufacturing of these Plows, is a combination of very soft and tough steel and another steel of hard nature. The soft steel being in the centre and the hard stock in the surface, as its name

It is prepared in about the following manner: Fhe soft plate having been rolled to a certain thickness and width plate having been rolled to a certain thickness and width according to the size of the finished plate it is desired to make, is placed in a mould and a fine quality of steel melted in a crucible, the old fashioned way, is poured into the mould, while fluid, on both sides of the soft plates, thus knitting and welding the two steels together and forming what is called an ingot or block, which in size averages 6 inches thick, 12 inches wide and 20 inches long, weighing something over 200 pounds.

The next step taken in the manipulation of the ingot is to put it in a furnace until it reaches a welding heat, to put it in a furnace until it reaches a welding heat, when it is placed under a powerful steam hammer. By this operation the ingot is flattened, and at the same time more thoroughly welded together. It is now again heated to the proper degree. Then passed through a set of rollers which reduces the thickness, but each layer of the steel retaining the same relative thickness. After the first rolling, in some caser, the slab is taken to the pickling bath to remove all scales and dirt. After which it is again heated and passed through the roller until the desired thickness is obtained, resulting in a sound slab of sired thickness is obtained, resulting in a sound slab of sired thickness is obtained, resulting in a sound slab of steel of 12 to 20 feet in length, 12 or more inches wide, by 3-16, 1-4, or 9-32 inches thick, as may be contemplated. comprising, however, three distinct layers, viz.: Hard, soft, and hard of equal thickness.

It now goes into a furnace for annealing, and finally through finishing rolls for impating a smooth surface, when it is ready for the shewring machines, to be cut into regular shapes, such as Mould Boards, Shares, Land Sides, Etc., Etc.

Owing to the softness and toughness of the center layer of the steel which is not affected by our tempering process that the Mould Boards, Shares, Etc., are subjected to, we are able to bring the surface or outer layers of the shape to a very high temper, so that a good hard file will not take hold of or cut it, and thus have a very strong plate.

A piece of this steel can be bent over cold without break-A piece of this steel can be bent over cold without break-ing, though of course the surface steel must necessarily be fractured in an operation so severe. It may be of in-terest to know that soft center steel is exclusively an American steel, made in no other country, although it has been attempted elsewhere, but without success.

* * * The Columbia High Lift Sulky

Being a late production, it is strictly modern in every respect. Combines every feature essential to good work, and is constructed of material which careful inspection ensures to be good. On the floor its attractive outline and finish secures the interest of every farmer who may see it. And in the field its uniform good work cannot fail to make it satisfactory in every way. Its record for the past year hat been in many respects phenomenal, and as several improvements have been recently added to it it will beyond question retain the position which its good work and actual merits have gained for it—The Leader of the High Lift Sulky.
